Greeting

Dear Colleagues

This time, the Union of those Interested In cross-cultural psychiatry is inviting to Austria's capitol Vienna.

As a discipline of the modern psychiatry and as a special field of social psychiatry, the Congress of German-speaking cross-cultural Psychiatry 2008 is directing its main emphasis to the topic "Refugees", and hereby in particular to the traumatised, the women and the children.

With this, our association is meeting the concerns of a current issue, which has been in the focus of the public discourse for already a decade.

We perceive the science as one of the most appropriate means to help reason to find entry into the solution of social issues which have so far only been dealt with on an emotional basis and we do recognise our task to offer a contribution to a better understanding of these developments and consequently to the humanisation of the handling of the same.

Vienna, in our opinion, appears to be a fortunate choice as a location to cultivate our exchange of ideas regarding the background of the city as a portal for refugee migrations of persecuted people and a key turning point for the east-west and south-north dialogue.

Naturally, the choice was also influenced by the intention to offer our congress participants an eventful location for the free periods in this small but vibrant city: we can not think of any more suited place for the personal exchange as the classical Viennese Caféhaus. The Association of the German-speaking cross-cultural Psychiatry is looking forward to welcome you all in Vienna from 26 to 28 September and expresses its gratitude to the historic Medical University of Vienna for its hospitality.
